

I'm a Counsellor with 14 years post-qualifying experience in practice, and 18 years working in the addictions field. I provide psychodynamic counselling with a person-centred approach, meaning we can make links between your life experiences and who you are today using exploration in an informal and safe environment. For more information and contact details please see my website - www.gilliantitmuss.co.uk