About Me

I am a qualified counsellor with 20 years of experience in treating all addictions including alcohol and substance mis-use, disordered eating patterns and relationship difficulties, and any underlying issues such as depression and anxiety disorders. I work with individuals, couples and groups, young people and adults. I have worked in various settings such as; GP Surgeries, Probation and Group Treatment Therapies. I help you to uncover and process any underlying emotional and psychological blocks so that you can achieve full recovery and a happy future, living out your full potential. I am trained in Psychosynthesis which approaches us humans as being partly shaped by our past experiences but also that we suffer from distress when we do not achieve our full potential in the present. Letting go of substance and alcohol mis-use, addictions or old behaviours means that new directions in life can be found. I can also offer Equine Facilitated Therapy, (no riding is involved), local to Hertford. Connecting with the outdoors and with horses as highly sensitive and social animals, creates a sense of well-being, connection and can shift our relationship patterns with ourselves and others.
